are women who reject Christianity. I make silence of your own soul make your observations.

It inidelity triumph and Christianity be overthrown, it means the demoralization of society. The one idea in the Bible that atheists and infidels most hate, is the idea of retribution. Taksagway the idea of retribution and punishment from society and it will begin very soon to disintegrate, and take away from the minds of men the fear of hell and there are a great many of them who would very soon turn this world into a hell. The majority of those who are indignant against the Bible hecuses of the idea of punishment are men whose fives are bad or whose learts are impured, and who late the Bible hecuse of the idea of punishment are men whose fives are bad or whose learts are impured, and who late the Bible hecuse of the idea of punishment are men whose fives are bad or whose hearts are impured, and who late the Bible hecuse of the idea of futing the idea of futing the idea of futing the idea of the consequences of sin in the next world, and I have made up my mind it is merely a coward's whisting to keep his courgateur. I have seen men flaunt their immoralities in the face of the community, and I have heard them defy the Judgment bay and soff at the idea of any future consequence of their sin, but when they came to the they shrieked until you could hear them for nearly two blocks, and in the summer high the neighbors got up to put the windows down because they could not endure the horrow.

I would not want to see a rail-train with 500 Christian people on board to down through a drawbridge into a watery grave. I would not want to see 500 Christian people on board to down through a drawbridge into a watery grave. I would not want to see 500 Christian people on board of down through a drawbridge into a watery grave. I would not send the steep the to brace up my nevers for such a spectacle. A thousand voices come up to me this morning, saying: "Do you really think infidelity will succeed! Has Christianity received its death blow? and will the Bible become obsolete?" Yes, when the smoke of the cive chimney arrests and destroys the poondaysm. Josephus says about the time of the destruction of Jerusalem the sun was turned into darkness; but only the clonds realed between the sun and the earth. The sun went right on, it is the same sun, the same luminary as when at the beginning it shot out like an electric spark from God's finger, and to-day it is warning the nations, and to-day it is gibling the sea, and to-day it is filling the earth with light. The same old sun, not at all worn out, though its light steps one hundred and intery million miles a second, though its pulsations are four hundred and fifty trillion, undulations in a second. Same sun with heautiful white light made up of the violet and the inlian and the blue and the green and the red and the yellow and the orange—the seven beautiful colors now inst as when the solar spectrum dirst divided them.

At the beginning God said: "Let there be light," and light was, and light is, and light shall be. So Christianity is rolling on, and it is going to warm all nations, and all nations are to bask in its light. Men may shut the window blinds so they cannot see if, or they may smoke the pipe of speculation until they are shadowed under their own appendix of the skies, and the force of the foliage, and the yellow of the autumnal woods, and the orange of the southern fungles, and the bile of the skies, and the green of the foliage, and the pelow of the southern fungles, and the bile of the sweets. BEAUTIFUL CHAPEL SCENE.

The First Communion of Nine Little

Girls Nine little girls made their first comraion in the chapel of the Academy of the Visitation, on Connecticut avenue, vesterwinion in the chippel of the Academy of the Visitation, on Connecticut avenue, yesterday (Sunday) morning. In the presence of their parents and a few friends. The chapel is situated in the second story of the convent toulding. At one and is a handsome marble altar, and on the left side, within the altar rail, is a lattice work or section of bars reaching from floor to celling to separate the space occupied by the must from the main chapel. Over the altar is a large pleture of our Saviour appearing to St. Margaret, and representing the origin of the devotice of the sacred heart.

There is a small altar on one side on which stands a statue of the Blessed Virgin, and on the other side is a statue of St. Joseph. Without the altar rail are next benches, with high backs, and kneeling benches. There is a small gallery in which is placed an organ. The aums furnished the music, both vocal and fastrumental.

About 6:20 o clock Sister Mary Francis, the directress of the academy, entered the chapel through a side door, followed by the ulue little cills. Each male a genulexion in front of the altar, and passed to her seat on the front row of benches. They were diressed in white and wore long white wells. At 6:30 Rev. Father R. T. Burke, of St. Augustine's Church, ascended the altar and began the celebration of the mass. In the meantime all of the muss had entered the space behind the hars, but were out of sight, except one who knelt close to the bars and made the responses of the mass and rang the bell at the elevation, &c.

After the consecration Father Burketurned and spoke a few words to the children. After a few words of good advice the bars on his left and the nuns filed by and each child, who received it and lowed her head in reverence. He then turned to the bass on his left and the nuns filed by and each received communion through a small opening. After the other mass had passed eight while veled nuns followed. During the time the nuns were receiving they chanted a psalm or hymnon from the altar rail. Father Burke th

In March last—Congress—passed—and the President signed—a bill known as the "Urgent Deficiency" bill. In this bill there was an Item of $5,000, appropriated to pay the discharged employes of the government printing office the pro rata due them on account of the fifteen—days" leave bill. Although this money was made available before April 1, and that many of these who held claims were in destitute circumstances, Public Printer Benedlet found it convenient to refuse them and their communications any notice, until they appealed to a United States senator to aid them in getting some information one way or the other from the information one way or the other from the public printer, who had refused to state his purpose or intent when applied to by them. This was at as late a date as April 19. In response to a communication forwarded to the public printer, on the above date, by the senator, the public printer, after trying to excuse his delay in not paying these claims by making two false and misleading statements, promisoil to commence the paying of them at once. Now, let us see how he commenced. On or about Apr. 23, while he had a very large percentage, if not all of the claims in hand (many of them having been filed since last August), he sends out a few scattering "vouchers" for the claimants to sign. These were neffler in the order of their discharge or of their applications as filed, showing a want of "business principle" in the management of his office or a discrimination, the cause of which no one better than himself understands. Nor is this all. Many of the "vouchers" sent out by the public printer were signed by the claimants for the amount opposite their names and returned to the public printer the following day, Apr. 25, since which time they have not been heard from in any way. He has the signatures of these people, and has had them for over a week, yet they have not received one cent. Is this only one instance or is it a fair sample of the boasted business principles on which the government printing office is being carried on that we hear so much about?

Through this somewhat benighted district pass the stately "Tally-Ho," the airy tandem and the English "drag" of the exclusive northwest section. In fact, the only outlet for fashion on wheels seems to be through "Herring Hill," and yet very few of Georgetown's residents seem to know the origin of its somewhat fishy name. In conversation with an old citizen a Ricer attern versation with an old citizen a Ricer attern versation with an old citizen a Ricer attern when the name of the town schooners heavily laden with fish ascended the creek as far as what is now known as P-street bridge, where lived on the hill a colored family by the name of Mason, who engaged extensively in the curing of fish, principally herring, hence the piscatorial and apparently far-fetched name of "Herring Hill."

Georgetown appears to be the attractive center for Sunday recreation. A pillgrinnge to Arlington or Oak Hill, a row on the river, or a drive to 'Tenleytown seem to be indispensable. The river was literally alive with small craft yesterday.

The carelessness of John Johnson, the colored fireman at Portner's browers, yesterday, caused the horrible scalding of his associate. James Mason, also colored. The facts are substantially as follows: Mason is a young man 22 years of age. whose duty is on every Sabbath morn, when the brevery is not in operation, to clean out the boilers of the engines which propel the the large machinery. He had gone through the manhole for this purpose when Johnson, who had overlooked this fact, turned the steam and boiling water into the boiler where Mason was. The screams of Mason soon brought assistance, but not until the skin was entirely burned from his face, hands, and the greater part of his body did they succeed in getting him out through the manhole. He was taken to his home, where Dr. Powell was summoned and ren-dered the necessary medical attention, but gave it as his opinion that death must seen follow.

CAUGHT PLAYING CRAP.

out Being Seen. That the colored man loves games of chance is beyond dispute, and between policy playing and "erap" his earnings rapidly disappear. The former game has the greater attraction, owing to the large percentage it pays to the lacky guesser. But the latter is easier to play, and a man can win or lose in very short order. These games do not restrict players to any age, but are participated in by bootblack and newsboys from 10 years up to the gray-haired octogenarian. Groups can frequently be seen engaged in sinking "craps," and while they become deeply interested in the game, they always have a picket out, and the appearance of a "cop" is the signal for separation. The groups rapidly disappear only to come together again not far away to resume the game. Many exciting races take place between the guardians of the law and the gamblers, and the latter generally escape.

lake place between the guardians of the law and the gamblers, and the latter generally escape.

Officers Raedy, Green, and Goneher, of the third precinct, however, were more successful yesterday afternoon. Near the corner of Twenty-fifth and M streets northwest they observed a large party of men and boys in the shade of a building engaged in shooting "erap." The players were so deeply engaged that the officers' approach was not noticed. The picket was engaged in the game also. On discovering the officers the players jumped to their feet and started to run. Three of them were caught and taken to the station house, where they gave their names as John W. Smith, aged 13 years: Robet, Lee, aged 25, and Samuel Booth, aged 50.

Officer Reidy, however, had a chase of it that he will remember for a long time. Robert Lee was the party who led him through M street, down Twenty-sixth to Rock Greek, and down the banks, and when near K street bridge Lee jumped into the creek and swam over to the Georgetown side. Reidy blew his whistle, which brought officers to the bank of the creek players.

side. Refdy blewhis whistle, which brought officers to the bank of the creek just as Lee was ascending it. Another chase took place, but the odds were against the man. The race, which had been an exciting one from the start, was joined in by a crowd of citizens. Lee, after a valiant run of it, was caught and turned over to Officer Reidy.
